

OpenITI, ver. 2020.1.2

—Release Notes—

Corpus Metadata

Machine-readable metadata on the current release corpus is updated and available in the “OpenITI_metadata_2020_1_2” file in TSV format. Below is a description of the modifications in the metadata columns:

1. version_uri: The former “versionURI” column: a human-readable URI of the current version of a print edition/manuscript of the book. The URI consists of the author’s date of death and name, the book’s title, the ID of the original source (online library) where the digital text comes from, and the language domain (e.g., -ara1 is for Arabic and -per1 for Persian). URIs were deliberately made human-readable to make it easier to work with the corpus. Examples of URIs and the description of URI formation principles can be found here.
2. author_ar: Name of the author in Arabic letters
3. title_ar: Book title in Arabic letters
4. ed_info: Edition information (editor, publisher, date and place), if available
5. local_path: The former “localPath” column pointing to the local path of the text file
6. tok_length: The former “length” column, which is the number of Arabic tokens in the text
7. char_length: The number of the Arabic characters in the text
8. tags: This release introduces new tagset from Geschichte der Arabischen Litteratur (GAL)¹ specified with “GAL_” prefix
9. tags_ar: Arabic tags

Note: The current metadata file allocates a row to each text file in the corpus. Since we are using GitHub to develop and maintain our corpus and GitHub has a strict file limit of 100MB, the book Bihār al-anwār (1111Majlisi.BiharAnwar), which exceeds this limit, is split into 3 text files, each with a different bookID: “Shia001432VolsA”, “Shia001432VolsB”, and “Shia001432VolsC”. If needed, you can reassemble the book from its parts locally on your computer. The book has three records in the metadata file, one record for each part that is a separate text file. To generate a single collective record, one can merge them and replace “Shia001432Vols” value in all the fields taht the id is used. Also, the status of the book should be “pri” and the length of the book in Arabic tokens and characters should be the sum of the corresponding values.
